

birdsong

i flew into your window some windows are closed, your window was closed i crashed into your pane of glass and glass is fragile, this is true so are feelings, feathers too i fell.

birds never cry
broken wings do not bleed, do not fly.

had i been brittle,
i'd be broken
but birds are soft
my song has spoken.